KOWLOON LIDO SCHEME WARMLY ENDORSED

K.R.A.'S KEEN INTEREST

PAST EFFORTS ON SAME LINES

A COMMERCIAL PROPOSITION

Lively interest has been aroused in Kowloon by the proposals outlined in the Telegraph yesterday for the development of the Chatham Road seafront as a Lido, and the idea is being taken up enthusiastically.

Somewhat similar schemes, perhaps a trifle less ambitious, have been advanced before, it was pointed out to a Telegraph representative by Mr. C. E. Terry, the chairman of the Kowloon Residents' Association this morning, but there is not the slightest reason why any scheme of the kind should not prove a highly profitable undertaking.

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE.

The Government's former attitude that they would not be justified in incurring the initial outlay means very little if the idea is taken by private enterprise.

Mr. Terry stated that in June 1931, in view of the lack of facilities for public bathing on the Mainland, the Kowloon Residents' Association suggested to the Government the desirability of providing open air swimming pools of the type referred to in the Telegraph yesterday, to be situated, if the proposal was adopted by the Government, near the Kowloon-Canton railway, on the far side of the Peninsula and at Shamshulpo.

It was then pointed out that although the capital outlay would be considerable there would be no difficulty in finding the money.

Private enterprise would do that if they were given some security of tenure as it was felt that the scheme would be a financial success.

RIDICULOUS POSITION

"The feeling of the K.R.A. at the time," said Mr. Terry, "was that it was ridiculous that a Colony like Hongkong which had some of the best natural bathing facilities imaginable, should be unable to provide bathing facilities for the man in the street."

Mr. Terry mentioned that unless a man was in a position to own a car or a motor he was almost impossible for him to get a decent swim.

A large percentage of the decent class Chinese and Europeans were now unable to get a swim.

GOVERNMENT ATTITUDE.

The reply the K.R.A.'s proposal drew from the Government was that "Government was of the opinion that it would not be justified in incurring the capital expenditure which would be entailed in the provision of open air swimming pools as long as Lai Chi Kok Bay remains available as a bathing area."

PLENTY OF MONEY.

"But," said Mr. Terry, "there is plenty of money in the Colony and I am sure that if the matter was put before private individuals as a good paying proposition, as it will be, I am sure they would take the matter up."

"The scheme we put forward in 1931 was not for third-rate pools, but extensive open air ones with all the amenities such as decent changing houses, a cafe, for tea and a promenade, such as were referred to by the Telegraph."

OTHER SITES.

"In addition to the sites which were mentioned originally there is the site at Sung Wong Toi on the Kowloon City road which would appeal to the Chinese. It is a most suitable place for a swimming pool."

"At Shamshulpo there is an area reserved as a park and that was the spot we had in mind for a Lido."

Miss Helen Jacobs.

GAS ATTACK IN N.Y. STOCK EXCHANGE

EXPLOSION OF TEAR GAS BOMBS

A MILD PANIC

(Special to "Telegraph")

New York, Aug. 4. A mild panic spread through the New York Stock Exchange today, but it had nothing to do with an avalanche of share selling or a collapse in prices.

Fumes were seen to be spreading over the floor and the Stock Exchange was suddenly closed for the day.

The incident occurred at about 12.35 p.m. At first it was believed that the fumes were caused by a leak from the ammonia pipes in the cooling system, but investigation proved that two tear gas bombs had been exploded in the ventilating system.

Detectives are now investigating the affair, which up to the moment is a complete mystery.

The Exchange ruled that the last prices quoted should constitute the official closings.—United Press. Per Gold Bar Co.

REUTER VERSION.

New York, Aug. 4. Excitement reigned on the Stock Exchange following the flooding of the trading floor with gas fumes.

It was revealed on investigation that an unknown person had placed a cylinder containing tear-gas bombs in one of the intakes of the ventilating system.

MEMBERS FLEE.

When the "gas attack" was first noticed, the members dashed into the street while an emergency squad equipped with gas-masks hurried into action.

None-one was overcome by the fumes.

All the floors below the fifth were evacuated and business was immediately suspended, though the Curb Market continued.—Reuter.

CASANOVA SEEKING LEAVE TO APPEAL

Application to Be Made to Magistrate

The Telegraph learns that an application for leave to appeal against the conviction of the Casanova Dancing Institute on the complaint of a neighbour against the noise of the dance band, is being made to Mr. Butlers, the Kowloon Magistrate.

Mr. Leo d'Almeida, Senior, represented the Casanova. In the case, he is making his application.

A WIGHTMAN CUP DEBACLE

AMERICA WINS THREE OPENING MATCHES

POOR DISPLAY BY BRITISH LADIES

NEW YORK, AUG. 4.

ENGLAND TO-DAY SUFFERED A HEART-BREAKING DEBACLE IN THE WIGHTMAN CUP, America, in spite of the enforced last-minute withdrawal of Mrs. Wills-Moody, made a clean sweep of the day's matches, finishing three rubbers up.

England must win all to-morrow's programme to capture the Wightman Cup—an almost impossible task.

The results this afternoon speak eloquently of the vast superiority of the American players:

Miss Helen Jacobs (U.S.) beat Miss D. Round 6-4, 6-2.

Miss Sarah Palfrey (U.S.) beat Miss M. C. Scriven 6-3, 6-1.

Miss Palfrey and Miss Jacobs (U.S.) beat Miss Round and Miss M. Healey 6-4, 6-2.

According to Reuter Dorothy Round opened her singles match with a double fault and lost the first game.

Her forehead drive came to the rescue in the second and she gallantly captured Miss Jacobs' service.

DOROTHY'S WEAKNESS.

The players settled down into a baseline duel in which the English girl showed up rather better than her opponent. Miss Round won the third game on service to lead for the first and last time.

Miss Jacobs, altering her game, lobbed deeply and concentrated on Miss Round's weak backhand. The English Sunday School teacher revealed a distinct weakness over head and missed a number of kills.

Miss Jacobs went into a 4-2 lead, was pulled back to 4-3, won her next service for 5-3 and then Miss Round, serving magnificently and winning her points with fine follow up shots, took a love game to draw up to 4-5.

COMPLETELY UPSET.

The American player refused to be upset by this display of courage and tenacity and took her own service for the first set.

Miss Jacobs quickly jumped into her stride in the second set and set up a sustained attack of hard accurate drives. She gave a fine exhibition, whereas Miss Round was completely upset and frequently netted or overhit.

She only won the second and fourth games, Miss Jacobs finishing off the match winning a love game on her service with a spectacular kill off Miss Round's backhand lob.

MISS PALFREY v. MISS SCRIVEN.

Miss Peggy Scriven followed in the footsteps of Dorothy Round. She lost her first service, the opening game of the match, but recovered, and by some fine placings and hard hitting from the baseline, assumed a 2-1 lead.

The crowd displayed tremendous enthusiasm and the umpire had to appeal to them to remain quiet during the exchanges.

In the fourth game, both players indulged in some beautiful side-line drives and the rallies were very protracted. Finally Miss Palfrey won her service to level up.

Miss Palfrey succeeded in capturing her opponent's service in the fifth game, but lost her own in the sixth. She returned to the court for the seventh game.

London, Aug. 4. As the result of the performance by the Armstrong-Whitworth streamlined Diesel electric railbus between King's Cross and Hertford during demonstration runs in the presence of home and overseas officials, yesterday, an order for two units of a capacity of 100 h.p. has been placed.

WHITE ANT PERIL IN ROOF OF CATHEDRAL

SOLO ATLANTIC FLIGHT

Grierson Held Up By Bad Weather

London, Aug. 4. John Grierson, an ex-Royal Air Force pilot, who intended to leave Brough this morning for Scapa Flow in preparation for an Atlantic solo flight by the Northern route, is still awaiting favourable weather.—British Wireless.

INVASION SERIOUS

CLOSE INVESTIGATION PROCEEDING

Grave apprehension is felt by the Cathedral Council at the discovery that white ants have attacked the timber of the Cathedral roof and have made serious inroads on main supports.

A quarter of the roof has been thoroughly examined and 13 bats and other beams have been found affected by white ants.

The Rev. N. V. Halward told a Telegraph reporter: "The last big examination of the roof was carried out five years ago by Messrs. Leigh and Orange and since then they have made routine inspections every half year. On the last occasion Mr. S. D. Igglesden, the architect, found that the insect had attacked a beam over the Sanctuary and another in the North Transept. The matter was reported to the Cathedral Council who decided that a thorough examination must be made."

BAD NEWS.

Mr. Igglesden is trying to locate the headquarters of the insects and exterminate them but it is a very difficult job. The Cathedral resources have been drawn upon rather heavily during the last two or three years but we were just congratulating ourselves on getting straight again when we received this bad news. If the report of the architect reveals extensive damage, the Council are going to have a very difficult task."

The interior of the Cathedral is completely transformed by the extensive scaffolding which is necessary to enable Mr. Igglesden and his assistant to move freely over the roof. Armed with a flashlight and hammer the inspector subjects each beam to a close scrutiny and then with a light tap of the hammer tests its soundness by ear. When necessary the beam is drilled and the interior examined.

A SAMPLE.

A piece of wood taken from the roof was shown to our representative. It was completely honeycombed by the depredations of white ants and bore more resemblance to a sponge than to timber. An official of Messrs. Leigh and Orange said he would not like to forecast the extent of the damage but the small section of timbers, purins, and battens that had so far been tested contained about 18 damaged timbers. Other damage had also been caused by dry rot but that was a minor matter compared with the danger that threatened the roof structure while the white ants remained in it.

London, Aug. 4. In the last day of Cowes Week, "Britannia," with the King and Prince of Wales and Prince George on board, was a competitor in the race for big yachts but in the second round, she retired.

The winner was the all-steel yacht "Velsheda" which won by eighteen seconds from "Astra."

Later, the Prince of Wales and Prince George played golf on Osborne links.—British Wireless.

CHEUNGCHAU TRAGEDY

Rhenish Mission Worker Fatally Burned

MISS MARGARET SCHLAG

Victim of a terrible accident at her home on Cheung Chau last evening, Miss Margaret Schlag, aged 30, a member of the Rhenish Mission, died later at the Matilda Hospital.

Miss Schlag received severe burns, the result of an explosion in a tin of kerosene from which she had drawn a supply. To seal up the hole made in the tin, she had recourse to a piece of candle. The heat from the tallow ignited the fumes in the tin.

First-aid was rendered by the Police and other European residents on the Island, the victim being afterwards removed to Hongkong in a Police launch.

She died shortly after admission to Hospital.

The funeral takes place this afternoon, the cortege passing the Monument at 5 p.m.

AUSTRO-GERMAN TENSION

FRESH INCIDENT IN VIENNA

Vienna, Aug. 4. Sharp repercussions are expected to follow the announcement that Franz Riedel, the chief correspondent of the Berlin newspaper Germania, has been sentenced to fourteen days' imprisonment for an article insulting the Austrian Government.

The sensation is increased by the fact that Riedel was arrested and sentenced without an open trial.—Reuter.

We left Prince Paul yesterday just as he went to the guardroom to find out what steps the Grand Duke Igor had taken about the assassination of the Tsar's uncle.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER THREE

Prince Paul's face paled above the gold braid of his cream white uniform, paled and then flushed again with impatient anger. A Captain of the Chevalier Guard, Officer of the Day, stood at attention before him silent after he had delivered the answer to Prince Paul's question.

Controlling himself, Prince Paul addressed another question to the officer:

"You say that he took a detachment of the Chevalier Guard as a firing squad?"

"Yes, Your Excellency. He gave me the order while His Imperial Highness was still at mass. I detailed the Third Ekaadron to this duty."

"Where are they now?"

"At the Fortress of Peter and Paul."

The Prince frowned.

"And you say he had already arrested a group of radical characters and now plans to execute them without trial?"

"So I was led to understand, Your Excellency," the captain answered.

"Order my car," Prince Paul said flinging the order to one of the privates of the guard.

Two minutes later he was speeding on his way to the fortress, an army chauffeur and his orderly on the front seat before him.

In the bleak courtyard of the Fortress of Peter and Paul, which had so often echoed to the tramp of the marching feet of the Tsar's regiments, and where gold braid had shone and steel helmets had glistened against the rays of the sun, a strange song was being sung.

Defiantly and discordantly, the words of the Terrorist anthems, the "Internationale" and "Hostile Winds Are Blowing Above Us," were flung from the mouths of a group of revolutionists, huddled by a brick wall which loomed thirty feet above them.

There were sixteen of them. Two women and a boy who was not more than sixteen years old raised their shrill voices with the hoarse ones of the men.

They stood in different poses: some straight, leaning their heads on the bricks and looking toward the sky; some slumped down, staring ahead of them with animal fear in their eyes; some kneeling, in prayer. The weak and fainting were supported and shielded in the centre of the cluster.

In their hearts, they considered their coming execution a great sacrifice for the revolutionary cause, an example for those who must continue the struggle. And so they fortified themselves by singing. Every word was spit out; every note a shriek of insult; every word was flung back to them by the brick walls and by the six stories of the main building opposite the place where they were gathered. Under foot were flagstones, each a yard and a half square, and laid out like a large tragic checkerboard.

All their souls were thrown into this, their last song before they were to be silenced forever. Rosa Liebman's voice rose shrilly above the rest. A woman active in the left-wing of the Terrorists, she stood by the wall, one hand raised aloft, holding a piece of white cloth soaked with blood.

The firing squad, a platoon of Chevalier Guards dressed in service gray, stood at stolid attention some twenty paces in front of the defiant group. A Captain of the Corps of Gendarmes read a document in a loud voice; but his words were drowned out by the singing of the Terrorists. The Captain continued steadily:

"... which reads as follows: The persons caught with arms in the zone of martial law will be subject to immediate court martial and pay the penalty of death. Therefore, be it known that the decision of pending court martial...

Several yards behind the Captain, two young officers of the Guards, astride beautiful horses, leaned toward each other to light their cigarettes. They disregarded the singing and the reading of the death verdict bored them.

"Shoot! Shoot us all! Murderers!" Rosa Liebman screamed.

"We'll die gladly. Our names will be remembered when your end comes. Comrades, stand up! Look straight into the muzzles. Beyond them lies the future, lies free and resurrected Russia—Russia of the worker and the peasant—and you, you soldiers, who don't even know that we die for you."

The sergeant of the squad snapped out an order.

"Squad, attention!"

The Chevalier guards executed the command with sharp precision. Suddenly the gates of the prison yard swung open. Prince Paul and his adjutant, in their military automobile, swerved at breakneck speed into the fortress. Paul stood up quickly in the car.

The sergeant surveyed his men. "Carbines, aim!"

But before the rifles could be swung into position, Prince Paul uttered a command which was sharp and short, like a shot from a pistol.

"Squad, dismissed!"

The troopers, at the voice of their Colonel, snapped carbines back to their original positions.

The sergeant turned about face and stood still.

In the group of the condemned, the terrific tension burst into insane consternation. Rosa Liebman stepped away from the raving group.

"Oh, God—why don't you shoot?" she yelled. "Shoot, I tell you! Can't you even pull the triggers without cheating? Make up your minds! bloodsuckers! Make up your minds! Russia is waiting for you!"

Paul remained in the car, which had slowly approached the space between the firing squad and the revolutionists. The woman terrorist jeered at the Prince.

"You want to shoot us yourself, you Judas! With your own hands! Start—start right now! Start with myself and this child!"

With this, she grabbed the sixteen-year-old boy and pulled him close to her.

"Don't scream," Paul said to her quietly. He turned. "Lieutenant Karpov," he called out.

Karpov galloped to the automobile, almost knocking over the woman and the boy.

"Are you riding the horse, or is the horse riding you, Lieutenant?" Paul said. "Who detailed the Chevalier Guards for a firing squad?" he demanded.

The officer saluted, started to speak, then looked past his superior toward the entrance of the courtyard.

"His Imperial Highness," he said, nodding his head.

From the other corner of the yard, the Grand Duke Igor, a frown on his dark face, strode toward them, followed by government and civilian dignitaries, police officials and plain clothes men.

Paul stepped out of the car and saluted. Igor slowly acknowledged the salute. The retinue respectfully stopped at a distance.

Igor and Paul looked at each other and for a second their eyes clashed. Outwardly, Paul respected the rank of his superior; inwardly he boiled with wrath at the Grand Duke.

"What do you mean by interfering with my orders?" Igor asked tensely, but with reserve.

Prince Paul retained his soldierly air.

"I am performing my duty as Commander of Her Majesty's Own

SHENG AN PIRACY

BUCCANEERS WILL NOT BE EXTRADITED

Dalren, Aug. 4.

It is learnt that the Public Prosecutor's Department has decided not to permit the extradition of the five Europeans involved in the piracy of the Sheng An.

The trial will take place at Port Arthur, but the date of its opening and the charges to be preferred have not been announced.

It is learnt that a preliminary investigation disclosed that the buccaneers originally intended to head for Newchwang, but orders were suddenly given to the Second Mate, Wang Ying, who was navigating the vessel at the time, to divert the ship's course to Dalren.

In the course of his evidence, Wang Ying declared that Captain "Tubby" Taudien stopped the engines when the Sheng An was off Hoshigaura. Attempts were made to summon passing Junks but these proved unsuccessful, and the pirates, who wanted to land, beached the vessel, disembarked and disappeared in the direction of Hoshigaura.

Later the Sheng An refloated with the tide and Wang Ying, attempting to run the vessel to some point where the crew would be free from the domination of the pirates, struck a reef.—Reuter.

Chevalier Guards. Your Imperial Highness.

Igor barely restrained himself.

"Where I am in command, your duty ends," he said with rising anger. "I'll take the responsibility."

"I have already taken it," Paul returned quickly.

Then you will also take the consequences, Igor threatened.

"By Her Majesty's orders—and Her Majesty alone," was the reply. Igor shook with fury. In a half hushed voice, he said:

"Listen, you spoiled pup, don't make a sentimental fool of yourself in front of everybody. When my brother is assassinated..."

"By one man," Paul interrupted quietly. "You have already shot a dozen."

"And I am exterminating every potential assassin," Igor went on. "Every dirty dog who is caught with a weapon, every scum..."

Paul broke in again: "Your Highness, you have plenty of police under your orders for dirty work. We Chevalier Guards carry 'For Faith and Courage' on our helmets."

"For the last time, Colonel..."

"I have faith to believe that His Majesty will want to put these people to a fair jury trial, and I have the courage to disobey your orders. I am taking my Chevalier Guards away."

"It will be the last time you'll have anything to do with the Chevalier Guards," Igor said grimly.

"If you mean Her Majesty's Chevalier Guards, I'm afraid you're mistaken, Your Imperial Highness," Paul turned around sharply.

"Chevalier Guards, right!" he ordered. They obeyed. "Straight through the gates, forward march!"

The squad swung past the Grand Duke and the Prince.

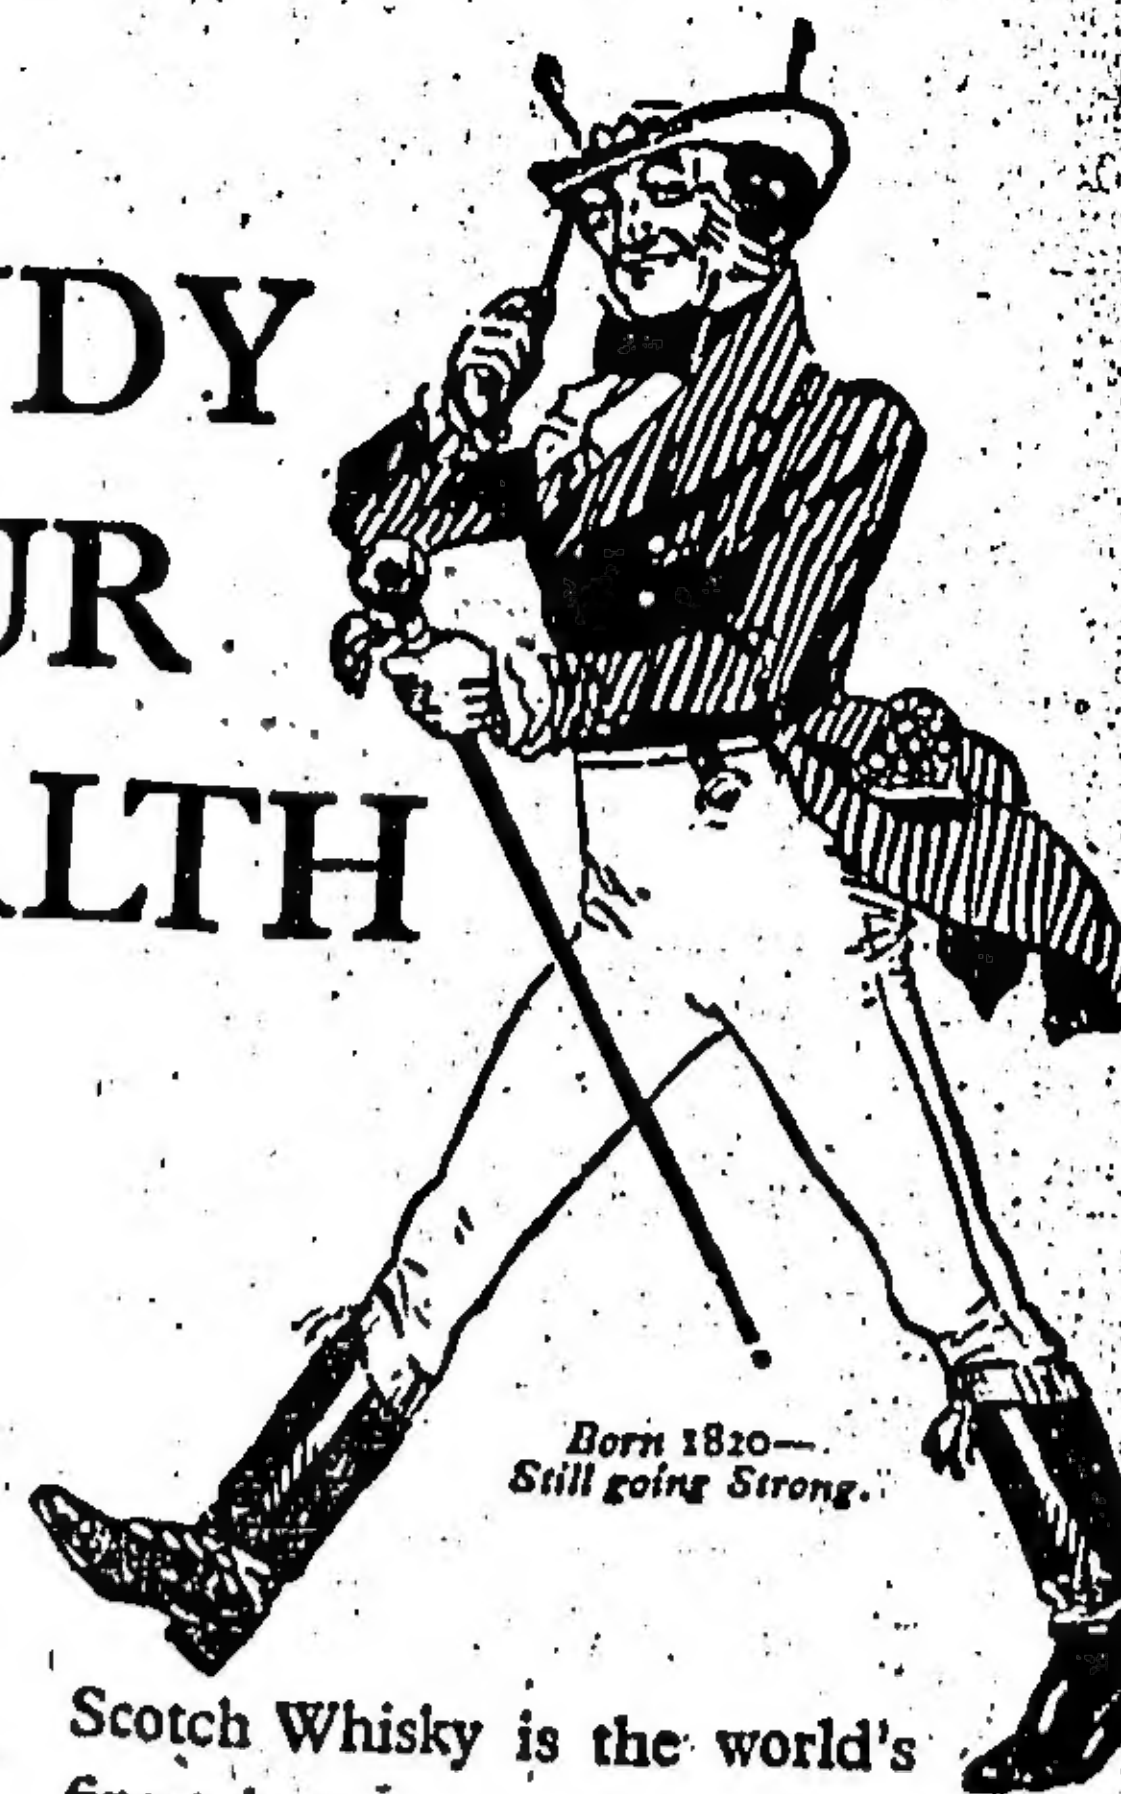

"You'll go with me to the Emperor immediately and hand him your sword, Colonel," he ordered, watching the troop march out.

"Need I add that my car is at your disposal, Your Imperial Highness?" Paul said politely. He opened the door of the car and stood aside while Igor stepped in.

They drove off together in silence. From time to time, the Grand Duke Igor looked with a sharp side glance at the calm profile of his insubordinate junior.

Will Prince Paul be punished for his kindly, but presumptuous, deed? (To be Continued.)

YEAR IN GAOL

MAHATMA GANDHI SENTENCED

Poona, Aug. 4. The Mahatma Gandhi was released from the Yerwada Gaol today, but, refusing to obey the restriction order served on him, was immediately re-arrested.

Gandhi is now awaiting trial under the Emergency Powers Act.

Following his recovery from his recent 21 day fast, the Mahatma plunged once again into the civil disobedience campaign. He organised a disobedience march, which was to inaugurate an individual disobedience campaign.

Before the march started Gandhi was arrested.

It is known that Congress disapproves of Gandhi's latest scheme, and no violent disturbances are anticipated.

If found guilty of the charge laid against him, Gandhi is liable to two years' political imprisonment.—Reuter.

Gandhi Sentenced.

Poona, Aug. 4.

The Mahatma Gandhi was sentenced to one year's imprisonment.—Reuter.

BOMBAY PICKETING.

Boycott of British Goods Urged: Nine Arrests Made.

Bombay, Aug. 4. Picketing of shops, which Congress abandoned some time ago was resumed here to-day.

Nine arrests were made in the Cloth Market for picketing and distributing leaflets urging the boycott of British goods.—Reuter.

PICCARD'S RECORD

SCIENTISTS TO ATTEMPT GREATER HEIGHT

Brussels, Aug. 4. A third balloon ascent into the stratosphere in an attempt to beat Professor Piccard's record will be made shortly by two Belgian scientists, one of whom accompanied Prof. Piccard on two ascents.

The scientists hope to reach at least 10½ miles and complete the observations on cosmic rays begun by Prof. Piccard.

The balloon will be an improvement on Prof. Piccard's. It will be fitted with a gondola made of magnesium and fitted with wireless to allow communication with the ground during the ascent.—Reuter.

CHANGE IN PLANS.

Balbo To Return Via The Azores.

Rome, Aug. 4. It is officially stated that General Balbo has abandoned hope of returning to Ortoello via Valentin, Ireland, owing to bad weather.

He is therefore organising his return via the Azores and Lisbon and hopes that all arrangements will be completed by August 10.—Reuter.

CURRENT COMMENT

Our Roads.

The recently adopted practice of spreading coarse stone chippings over the roads of the Colony has not been received with approval by local motorists. Possibly there are technical reasons why the method is desirable, or, on the other hand, the economy "booby" may be responsible. The fact remains that for some considerable time after the chippings are strewn, the surface is rendered extremely unpleasant, and in some cases, distinctly dangerous. Proper maintenance is most essential, and any effort to patch-up road surfaces at the least possible cost is false economy indeed. It will be generally conceded that the roads of the Colony are below the standard of seven or eight years ago, and the only explanation would appear to be almost ruthless pruning of estimates for maintenance. Not Urgent.

It is noticed that the banking or super-elevation of the road from Jardine's Corner to the Peak Hotel is being corrected. Surely such work is not nearly as urgent as road repairs and maintenance generally?

The New Buick.

Great interest has been aroused by the arrival of the 1933 McLaughlin Canadian built Buick, and those of the first shipment are to be seen on our streets. The value is certainly outstanding, for at the present favourable price which is in the region of HK$4,000, there is full money's worth. In performance the McLaughlin is all-satisfying, while the petrol consumption for an engine developing 80 h.p. is low. Speaking to Mr. C. Lauritsen, the managing director of the Dragon Motor Car Co., Ltd., the Buick Agents, I was told that the first shipment was quickly snapped up, and the second lot now en route will experience a like fate. Mr. Lauritsen mentioned that a cable to the factory giving instructions to expedite further shipments met with the disappointing reply that it is extremely doubtful whether further orders can be despatched to Hongkong before Christmas. Incidentally, all models are wired for the installation of radio, special sets being made for the purpose.

ILLUSTRATING THIRTY YEARS' PROGRESS

Henry and Edsel Ford with the first Ford car and to-day's Ford V-8, De Luxe Fordor Sedan. The picture was taken in Greenfield village, Henry Ford's old time village, on June 16, the day the Ford Motor Company celebrated its thirtieth anniversary. During the thirty years the company has been in business it has built and sold more than 21 million cars. Henry Ford completed his first car in 1903. Ten years later the Ford Motor Company was formed.

A COMPANY THIRTY YEARS OLD

This week Friday the Ford Motor Company completes 30 years of automobile making.

It is also my fortieth year at the same job. I made my first engine in 1893, and it still runs. This is the engine that won the Selden Patent Suit—which took the motor car out of the exclusive class, and opened the automobile industry to hundreds of manufacturers who started during the last 30 years.

Some of the men who began with me that June day in 1903, are working here yet. All of the principles we laid down then, are still operative; we find that they have great survival value for the future. To date they have produced and sold over 21,000,000 Ford cars.

Although we created the automobile market we have never thought it was good for anyone to monopolize it. We have always believed that before business could be good for one, it must be good for all. Our discoveries and improvements have always been open to other manufacturers without patent restrictions.

Of course, there is one thing we cannot share—everyone must get it for himself—and that is experience. Money could duplicate our buildings and machines, but it cannot duplicate 40 years of experience. And it is experience that makes a motor car.

But the past does not especially concern me; it has all been a preparation for the future. For myself, I feel that I have just been gathering the tools to do something worth while, and that my real task is still ahead.

Great changes are upon the world. False ideas of every kind are vanishing in the general upheaval. Those who built truly on principle will survive—their service will carry over. Business integrity and commodity honor will be fully justified. And newer and better ways of living will appear.

That is the outlook for this young thirty-year old Company of ours.

DO YOU HAVE THIS
NO-DRAFT CONTROLLED VENTILATION
IN YOUR CAR?

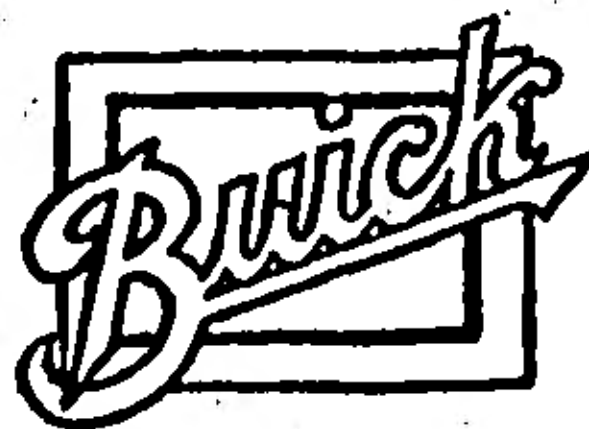

In a closed Buick you have the advantages of both open and closed cars.

Because closed Buicks are equipped with the Fisher No-Draft, Controlled Ventilation shown above.

All closed models of the 1933 Buick are equipped with the new Fisher No-Draft Individually Controlled Ventilation System which utilizes the air currents generated by the motion of the car to circulate fresh air throughout the car without any drafts. Ventilation is obtained by constructing the window glass in two sections, parted vertically. The front section may be turned to any degree desired so that each passenger can ventilate his part of the car to suit himself. The front windows in all closed models, and the front and rear quarter windows in all sedans are equipped with this system. A large cowl ventilator, with screen provides a generous circulation of fresh air throughout the entire front compartment.

Should People With Bad Teeth Marry?

A PROVOCATIVE QUESTION

London.

Should people with bad teeth marry?

That, in effect, was the provocative question put to the British Dental Association's Conference at Leicester by Colonel C. J. Bond.

The Colonel said it would be impracticable and ridiculous to expect a dentist to advise a patient with a slight deformity of jaw or teeth to abstain from marriage. But he wanted every branch of medical men to rouse a health and race conscience and a view that knowingly to transmit disease and defects to offspring was to be guilty of a crime against humanity.

Other remarks by Colonel Bond were—

Wisdom teeth are disappearing in Britain. Dental disease is a disease of civilization. The Islanders of Tristan Da Cunha, who never clean their teeth, eat fresh food instead of cooked or tinned food, have the most perfect teeth in the world.—Reuter.

FROM BOY INTO GIRL

CHANGE EFFECTED
BY THE LAW

Cologne.

The ponderous wheels of the law have had to be set in motion at Cologne to change a boy into a girl.

It is all due to a remarkable mistake on the part of a nurse. She told a very young father that his wife had presented him with a son. The father, without further inquiry, rushed off to the registrar of births.

HER FIRST MISTAKE.

Two days later the father again called on the registrar—this time accompanied by the nurse.

The nurse explained that the boy was a girl. In all her twenty years' experience she had never made such a mistake.

The registrar replied that in all his forty years of registering births he had never heard such a story. Some time will elapse before the formalities necessary to change the legal sex of the baby are completed.—Reuter.

'ASPRO' READY FOR ANY CRISIS

FREQUENTLY we get crisis in our health conditions. At present the whole world is going through a crisis. The individual crisis most people are up against is money and health. 'ASPRO' can deal with the health part of it. It is the means of dealing with a Health Crisis and it succeeds because it has within itself all the elements that remove the cause as well as the effects of numerous complaints. Feverish complaints are dispelled by its Anti-pyretic qualities—Rheumatism is banished because, after ingestion in the system, 'ASPRO' is a solvent of Uric Acid and is also an Internal Antiseptic and a Germicide. Being also anti-periodic and anti-fermentative, in conjunction with its other qualities, it brings sweet sleep to the sleepless—soothes the irritable and banishes nerve pains of all descriptions. It is also a known fact, established beyond a shadow of doubt throughout the world, that two 'ASPRO' Tablets and a hot lemon drink will smash up a 'flu attack in one night.

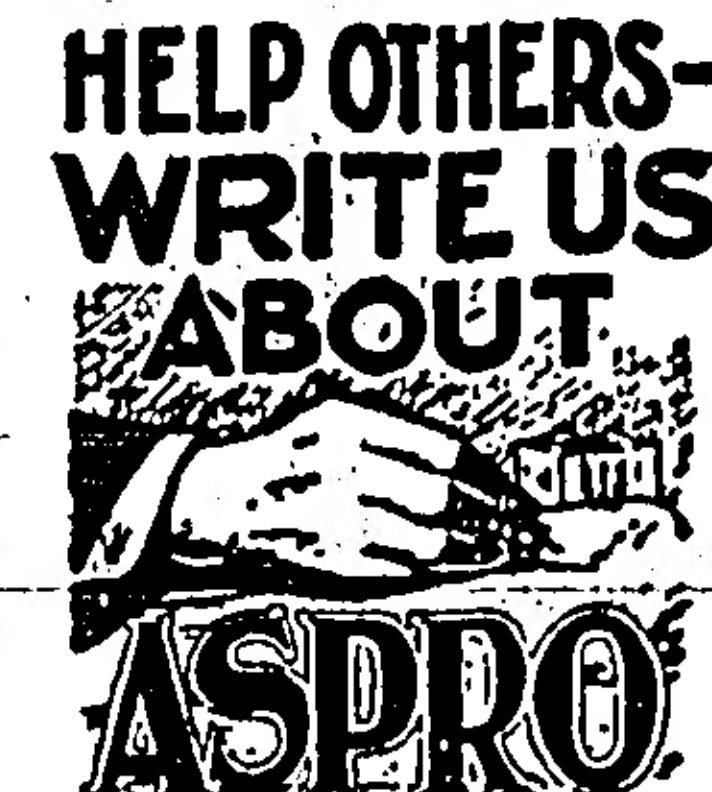

'ASPRO' DOES NOT HARM THE HEART
OR STOMACH NOR LEAVE ANY INJURIOUS AFTER EFFECTS.

5 MINUTES

FOR RELIEF WITH
'ASPRO'

There is nothing indefinite about 'ASPRO'. Its service is QUICK, safe, effective and definite. It gives you relief in 5 to 10 minutes and then goes on to dispel or dissolve the cause of the pain, allowing Nature to effect its own cure. Furthermore, you get no harmful after-effects from 'ASPRO', as it is speedily eliminated from the system a few hours after being taken. It neither dopes, deadens nor drugs.

Help others and you help yourself—It's an unwritten law. So in the interests of others, write and tell us how 'ASPRO' has helped you. If you know the good you do—you wouldn't wait a minute.

Try 'ASPRO' for

Headache,	Temperature
Rheumatism	Malaria
Neuritis	Dengue

Periodical Pains Peculiar to Women.
Alcoholic After-Effects.

'ASPRO' is Woman's Best Friend

Possibly, the greatest users of 'ASPRO' are women, for whom 'ASPRO' has a special charm on account of the mental periodical experiences with which all women are familiar. They surely know just what a wonderful soother and pain dispeller 'ASPRO' is. Millions of women throughout the World now regularly take 'ASPRO', the safe, sure, and effective medicine, to relieve their pain and accompanying physical depression, who before had to resort to dangerous drugs, narcotics or opiates. The understanding woman uses 'ASPRO'.

The PURITY of
'ASPRO'

The purity of 'ASPRO' conforms to the standard laid down by the B. Pharmacopoeia—the guiding authority of the Medical Profession. With 'ASPRO' there is no Salicylic Acid, therefore, it does not harm the heart, or have any serious after-effects such as nausea, indigestion, or troubles. Safeguard your health by always insisting on 'ASPRO'.

Most children are subject to 'flu', aches, earache, cold and bursts of Temperature. 'ASPRO' is safely given to children so after it will soothe the pain away quickly reduce Temperature.

HOW TO GIVE 'ASPRO'
TO CHILDREN

Two simple methods of giving 'ASPRO' to the kiddies are: (a) a little milk; or (b) break the tablet up and administer in a teaspoon of jam. The dosage is: Children 6 years, 1/2 tablet; 6 to 14 years, 1 tablet; 14 to 18 years, 1 1/2 tablets. 'ASPRO' like any other medicine should not be given to babies under 3 years of age without medical advice.

IS ISOLATIONISM PATRIOTIC?

The policy of Isolation is again being strenuously urged in certain quarters, and the advocates of the faith gain many adherents by reason of their insistence on the ability of the British Empire, as a whole, to be made self-supporting to the uttermost detail by internal interchange without the necessity to rely at all on trade from without the Empire. Great play is made with phrases such as "independent of the American dollar and French franc", "the creation of new Dominion markets" and "orders for our idle factories and work for our unemployed millions". So that patriotic minds are immediately intrigued with the policy of "splendid isolation". Without even troubling to discuss the correctness or falsity of these predictions and contentions, the fact remains that such a policy, paradoxical though it may appear at first sight, is definitely unpatriotic. Such isolation would, as its advocates urge, comprise lofty aloofness from the interests and tendencies of all nations outside the Empire. Indeed, it is freely postulated that one of the planks of Isolation would be immunity from agreements or treaties which might drag us into any wars which might transpire outside the Empire. The great point that is invariably ignored, either by design or through sheer blindness, by isolationists is that although Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Holland (and America also during the first three years) remained neutral during the Great War, every single one of them is to-day suffering from economic reaction caused by the War, to an even greater extent than Britain, herself a protagonist. In other words, it is today impossible for a war worthy of the name to occur anywhere without the entire world, whether the parties are involved in the war or not, being subjected to the resultant adverse consequences. It should be palpable, therefore, that true patriotism should compel Britons to realise that their own interests demand co-operation with the nations of the world in every possible effort to evolve a basis of international disarmament and a code of international law. The truth is that countries of the world to-day have a responsibility to the other and it is evaded. All are compelled to take an interest in international affairs which they would not otherwise do.

NOTES OF THE DAY

The longer we ponder the suggestion for a Lido on the Chatham Road seafront, the greater do its obvious attractions appear. There is a great scope here for an enterprising company, if only official sanction can be obtained; and there is benefit to be derived all round, the Government and the promoters in revenue and the public in the facilities afforded. Of this there can be very little doubt. The one essential of the scheme is that it should be big in conception. Produced on a miniature scale, the project would lose most of its value. There is little question of a gamble, except upon a certainty; it is merely a matter of indulging the courage of convictions.

PRIMARY OBSTACLE

A primary obstacle to schemes designed for the commonwealth in Hongkong is the tendency, fostered, perhaps, by rueful experience towards defeatism when it is felt the project may clash with Government policy. It is not, therefore, surprising to hear the Lido scheme outlined in the "Telegraph" yesterday warmly commended by the vast majority, such approval being accompanied and tempered by scepticism regarding the likelihood of Government sanction being obtained. The attitude is easy to understand, but more difficult to condone. One may be quite sure that no tentative scheme will ever blossom further if no effort is made to sound public opinion and to test the attitude of government. No good ever came of submission to the spirit of "it cannot be done." Surprising things have happened and can occur again. Even governments have been known to be reasonable, when public opinion is vociferous enough.

MONSTER PETITION

The Chinese community does not intend to remain quiet regarding the Government's plans for re-surfacing of the North Point bathing beaches. A monster petition is being drawn up and signatures canvassed in all walks of life. The justice or otherwise of the Government's case here hinges entirely upon its plans for the site when the bathing clubs have been turned out. On this point, hitherto, Government has been singularly silent. Mention is made of a need for development of the site, but no hint is given regarding the lines this will follow. It may be that definite plans have been formulated, likely to conform to social necessities. But if the site is merely to be sold to a speculator for reclamation purposes, to be cluttered up later with the random and aqualid "development" in which the land-jobber and the building gambler collaborate, we cannot too strongly condemn the proposal.

CLEAR UNDERSTANDING

It is well known and understood that when the Chinese bathing clubs entered upon their tenancy of the North Point region, it was made perfectly clear that the privileges would be extended for twelve months at a time and no longer and that, in the event of Government's desire to resume, no compensation would be payable in respect of any permanent or semi-permanent structures erected. Nevertheless, Sir Cecil Clementi's official participation in the opening of the first of the excellent club-houses, may be reasonably interpreted as giving sanction to a belief that the clubs were not likely to be disturbed for some considerable time. We are prepared to admit that this is of little consequence if an adequate reason can be advanced for giving notice to quit, but we cannot agree that the surrender of the land to an idealistic agency intent purely upon snatching a quick profit should be regarded as adequate justification for an expulsion order.

EMPIRE MARKETING

The Empire Marketing Board is to be allowed to die for lack of support by the countries to whom most benefit accrued. It is, however, more than likely that the organisation has outlived its usefulness, and, in any event, all the Dominions have budgetary problems precluding them from embarking upon new expenditure. The E.M.B. was established primarily for the purpose of encouraging the purchase of Empire goods in the United Kingdom at a time when Imperial Preference was in its infancy and artificial stimulation of inter-Imperial trade was, perhaps, necessary. Ottawa did much to remove the obstacles which the E.M.B. had to overcome. In the circumstances, the lack of enthusiasm by the Dominions will cause no hard feelings, though it is a pity that much of the value of this spade-work done

SHALL I EVER MARRY?

BACHELOR FREEDOM
ISN'T EVERYTHING

By COLLIE KNOX

TURNING over this business of living in my mind the other night, I put the following question to myself: "Shall I ever marry?" And I found my question distinctly impertinent.

For, after all, why on earth should I marry? Why should I, a bachelor for some 30 years, suddenly saddle myself with a life-long encumbrance which, though doubtless not without its charms, would cost me a great deal of money? To say nothing of my spare time.

A ONE-MAN HOME.

I mean—for thus did I rather petulantly argue with myself—I am set in my ways. I have a little house of my own which, at some pains and self-sacrifice, I have made extremely cosy. Everything is as I want it. . . . and I like that.

Were I to invite a comparative stranger permanently to take up her abode in my home there would be far less room for me. My books would be thrown on the floor. . . . my servant would resent taking orders from a woman. . . . my wife would probably hate my cats. . . . and she would want to chatter when, after a hard day's work at the office, I would be longing to be left alone.

I know all this sounds selfish. It is selfish, I suppose. But it is my way.

I have travelled much over the world. I have, in the course of an unusually full life, met most of the people worth knowing, and too many of those not worth knowing at all. But only once have I ever met anyone with whom I could conceivably settle down.

LOSS OF FRIENDS.

I am in a job which interests me and takes up almost all my time. My leisure I prefer spending in my own fashion.

Were I to marry I would, pre-force, have to give up many of my hard-won comforts. My friends would stop coming to see me. They would not wish to talk to my wife. Why should they?

Oh, this is not so concealed as it sounds. I have lost sight of too many friends through marriage not to know what I am talking about.

Why should I give up so much for some girl? She would not understand me in the least. . . . not, any way, for a greatly long time. And then, when she did eventually understand me, she would get bored, and go off "understanding" some other man.

No, to the limbo with marriage! It is a hectic and belligerent state I would rather not visit.

And yet, I don't know. Of course, wherever I go I hear of marriages turning out disastrously. Wherever I lunch or dine out I am assailed with boring details of why Jim left Clara or, more modernly, why Clara left Jim.

"Never get married, my boy," grunts a cynic on my left. (I invariably sit near a cynic at dinner parties.) "Keep your freedom. A girl will only spend your savings, and drive you to drink. Besides, no modern girl wants babies. Too much of a bore. Bah!"

I am fed full of this brand of meat.

Why is it that I never hear tell of marriages that are happy?

The other day I had tea in a lovely garden with an old couple who had walked through life hand in hand. They emanated all that was good and wholesome.

This made me think. . . . and I wish it hadn't.

Then I recall a week-end I spent in a house—a little four-years-old girl. A blue-eyed enchantress who honoured me with her undivided attention. Her name is Bubbles.

EMPTY FREEDOM.

As I dressed for dinner the first night I thought how delightful it would be to have someone like Bubbles all to myself. It would be such fun, I mused, watching her grow up. It would be grand to live for ever with an enchantress.

Then I went down to dinner, drank a great deal of port, and forgot all about Bubbles until she woke me up the next morning with four dolls, teddy bear, and a toy fire-engine.

And this bachelor freedom—it's a bit empty, really.

What it comes to is that one has the freedom to go home to a house and go out again. One goes out, probably because either one feels lonely or one longs for human company. There is not much glory in freedom such as this.

It is odd that one only hears of the unusual folk who delight not in the accepted pursuit of happiness and peace of mind but rather in a ceaseless seeking for excitement and thrills in peculiar ways.

But, fatuous though these people are, their doings are blazoned abroad and devoured eagerly by the young of both sexes—to their very great disadvantage.

But these unusuals only form a very small circle in a very large world. Like you, I forget that fact.

THE HAPPY MASSES.

There are thousands of married couples whose names are never heard, whose actions, thoughts, and hopes are never chronicled, who make of marriage a blessing instead of a curse.

While some few of my acquaintance have an intimate knowledge of the divorce court, I know many more who have had the courage and good sense to make a success of a marriage contract.

One couple I know live blissfully and bring up two children on £6 a week. The struggle is intense. But they consider it worth-while.

Like so many others of the great unadvertised, they look life in the face. . . . and answer it back.

One is the perfect complement of the other. They are, in a word, complete.

But the tiresome little "circle" votes them dull. . . . they are not accounted of any worth because they are not "exciting," "devastating," or "shattering," or any of the names for insincerity.

A PROBLEM UNSOLVED.

And here am I seeing two sides of a question. . . . and people who do that are admirable, and usually a curse to their friends.

What was it Disraeli wrote: "Every woman should marry. . . . and no man."

How delightful to be able to prove that great wit wrong for once!

SECRET TREATY DENIED

OFFICIAL U.S. STATEMENT

REPORT QUITE UNFOUNDED

Washington, Aug. 4.
The Acting Secretary of State, Mr. Phillips, has declared that the reports in the Japanese Press of a secret Sino-American Aviation Treaty are entirely unfounded.

The report nevertheless has created almost as much sensation in the United States as in Japan, though it is ridiculous as a story on a par with the alleged plans of the U.S. Navy to establish a base on the Fukien coast.

Tokyo messages show that the report was carried by the Asahi, Japan's biggest newspaper, which published what purported to be the full text of the alleged Treaty, consisting of three chapters with seventeen Articles and four annexes.

ALLEGED TERMS.
The United States, under the alleged treaty, would have the entire responsibility for the organization of the Chinese Air Force, stipulating that America supply China with half the necessary funds, estimated at $40,000,000 for constructing 835 scout planes, destroyer planes and bombers until the year 1936.

The Treaty further provides that four air stations be established at Swatow, Chuanchow, Chenhai and Haichow within this year, and that the Chinese Air Force be trained by American instructors.

A Foreign Office spokesman, today said he had no knowledge of the matter, but withheld his reply to a question as to whether action would be taken by Japan if the Asahi report proved to be true.—Reuter.

BERLIN TRAGEDY

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT AT MOTOR-CYCLE RACE

Berlin, July 30.
A deplorable accident marred this afternoon's motorcycle race held in the German Stadium here when the racing motorist, Herr Herzogenath, in taking a curve, lost control and dashed into the panic-stricken crowd of spectators. One boy was killed and eighteen adults were seriously injured. The latter were immediately sent to hospital, where several are now lying in critical conditions.

By an unfortunate coincidence, a similar accident happened in the town of Schoenebeck, on the River Elbe, where a motor-cyclist dashed into a column of storm-detachment troops, killing one man and seriously injuring six others. The motor-cyclist was arrested.

A MAN OF PEACE

GANDHI PLEADS GUILTY

London, Aug. 4.
Mr. Gandhi, who was released and rearrested, owing to his refusal to comply with an order restricting his activities, pleaded guilty when on trial to-day and was sentenced to one year's simple imprisonment.

He admitted a deliberate breach of the Government order, which he said he had no alternative but to disobey, although he was a man of peace.

The light sentence was imposed in view of Mr. Gandhi's age and the fact that the Government did not press for severe punishment.—British Wireless.

SHANGHAI ASSAULT.

ARMED GANG ATTACKS EDITOR

Shanghai, Aug. 4.
Mr. Alexander Weiss, acting editor of the Shanghai Zarya was taken to hospital as a result of a vicious attack made on him at 10.15 o'clock to-night.

Three armed men broke into his house in the French Concession, battered him with clubs and stabbed him with knives.

Weiss struggled with his assailants who ran out of the house. Despite his injuries, Weiss gave chase and was able to see the police arrest two of his attackers. The other man escaped.

Weiss was badly hurt, but not seriously. The French police are at present questioning the arrested men. The motive for the attack is unknown. The editor of the paper, Mr. Leo Arnoldov is at present in Tientsin.

central open air pool. It is in a crowded district and it would be necessary to make a small charge within the scope of all the people we would wish to cater for but not too small to allow the undesirable element to go in."

K.R.A. LETTER.

Kowloon Residents' Association.
Kowloon, 23rd June, 1933.
The Hon. Colonial Secretary,
Hongkong.

Sir,—I have to acknowledge receipt of your letter of 10th instant (No. 11/1933) and am directed to thank you for the information therein.
As stated in my letter of 20th May, this Association has found that no beaches other than those at Tai Wan and Lai-chi-kok are suitable for public bathing purposes; even if these beaches are furnished with the necessary facilities, it is obvious that the accommodation afforded will still be inadequate for the needs of the large population of Kowloon, and my Committee have therefore carefully explored the possibility of other methods of providing this very essential public amenity.

ONLY SOLUTION.

It is their considered opinion that the only solution of the problem lies in the provision of large open air sea water bathing pools, of which there should be at least three, i.e. one in the vicinity of Kowloon Point, one on the West and one on the East side of the Peninsula.

The Association has had the benefit of expert technical advice on the construction of such pools, and has also considered various suitable sites for their location, and are satisfied that no obstacles exist to the provision of these pools.

It is considered, however, that such provision should be regarded as a municipal service and should therefore be provided by Government. We suggest that there is no reason why financial stringency should stand in the way, as the expenditure would be almost entirely a dollar, as against a sterling commitment, and could be financed by means of a loan just as municipal bodies do in the United Kingdom. My Committee feel confident that, even if charges for the use of such pools are kept at nominal figures the scheme will finance itself, and that no difficulty whatever would be experienced in raising such a loan.

EASILY ARRANGED.

I am instructed to enclose a brochure published by the British Portland Cement Association, which will serve to indicate the lines on which we suggest the pools should be constructed; as far as possible, they should be located in areas now reserved for public parks, and operated in conjunction with such parks, and in this connection my Committee have in mind particularly the reserved area at Sung Wong Toi, on the Kowloon City Road.

It is unnecessary for us to stress the inestimable benefit to the health of the community of such pools, and in this Colony where public bathing is almost a necessity, can be arranged for so easily and can be carried on for more than half the year under admirable conditions, it is appalling to consider that no provision is made therefor. The growing interest of the Chinese population in sport of all kinds, so evident during the past decade, is one of the finest guarantees possible for peace and prosperity, and it is for the large mass of decent but comparatively poor Chinese, together with the numerous poorer, foreign residents who cannot afford a motorcar that we put forward this suggestion.

EMERGENCY VALUE.

My Committee would also point out that such pools would be of considerable emergency value in the event of a serious water shortage such as that experienced in 1929, when they could be utilised as storage tanks for fresh water and so materially reduce the cost of such an emergency to the Colony.

We therefore commend this proposal to the favourable consideration of Government, in the confident hope that its adoption will result in a general benefit to the health and tranquillity of the Colony.—I have, etc.,

C. E. TERRY.

Hon. Secretary.

OFFICIAL REPLY.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Hongkong, 9th October, 1933.
The Hon. Secretary,
Kowloon Residents' Association,
Sir,

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated 23rd June, 1933, on the subject of public bathing facilities in Kowloon and in reply to inform you that, after careful consideration of the matter, Government is of opinion that it would not be justified in incurring the capital expenditure which would be entailed in the provision of open air

BUS MISHAP ENQUIRY

NO BLAME ATTACHED TO DRIVER

A verdict of "Death by misadventure" was returned by the jury at the conclusion, yesterday afternoon, of the enquiry into the death of a school-girl, Hui Yuk-chan who was killed when she was crushed by a China Motor Bus Company's vehicle in Pokfulam Road on July 12.

The jury were of the opinion that the driver of the Pokfulam Road near Second Street, where the accident occurred, was definitely dangerous and recommended that it should be corrected as soon as possible.

It was further recommended that the Bus Company should be instructed to see that automatic screen wipers were in good working order on all buses.

WORLD SAVED BY DEPRESSION

STOPS "NERVOUS BREAKDOWN"

New York.
The world has been for many years on the verge of a "nervous breakdown," and the best thing the depression can do is restore normal living, according to Professor Kappers, director of the Central Institute for Brain Research of Amsterdam.

Professor Kappers will lecture before the American Association for the Advancement of Science in Chicago, New York and Toronto.

He said that the mode of living of the present generation had filled the world with neurotic individuals, and that hospitals all over the world were crowded with nervous patients as never before.

Speaking of the depression as it affected the workings of the brain, he declared it would be "a great thing" if it brought the people of the world nearer to a normal style of living.—Reuter.

swimming pools, so long as Lai Chi Kok Bay, which is accessible and provides considerable space, remains available as a bathing area.—I am, etc.,

N. L. SMITH.

For Colonial Secretary.

More Thought No Good

Sir,—The excellent Kowloon Lido Scheme propounded in last evening's Telegraph, prompts me to suggest that the ladies and gentlemen who met in protest of the coal dumping, should now associate themselves with the al fresco swimming bath scheme.

One cannot blame the Government (or the Railway authorities) for making an honest penny from a few vacant acres of land, and unless strong representations are made in favour of an alternative and more desirable means of securing revenue, the continuance of the coal dump may be justified.

I trust that the suggestion made in your paper will not be permitted to pass unheeded. Although ten thousand people undoubtedly favour the scheme, mere thoughts will not assist. If Kowloon is really determined, the Press of the Colony will be flooded with opinions in support, and the K.R.A. will not allow grass to grow under its feet.

SILAS.

There was a clean bill of health in the Colony on Thursday.

His Excellency the Governor has appointed Lieutenant Thomas Henry Scott Galliey, 1st Batt. South Wales Borderers, to act as Adjutant of the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps, with effect from June 6.

Passengers who left Hongkong by the Chichibu Maru included Brigadier General Fleming, C.B.E., D.S.O., returning to Shanghai from a brief visit to Major-General Boretti; also Rev. E. C. H. Tribble, Viscount K. Midano, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Zerdue, Dr. H. el Arculli and Mr. M. P. Madar.

U.S. INFLATION

NO ENCOURAGEMENT FROM GOVERNMENT

Washington, Aug. 4.
The United Press officially learns that the Government will not encourage further inflation, pending the outcome of the Industrial Recovery Programme.

The Federal Bank system has curtailed the inflationary programme for the fourth successive week by the restriction of the easy money programme of Reserve Banks.

These banks purchased only $10,000,000 of Government bonds for the week ended Wednesday, whereas they originally planned to buy bonds to the extent of $25,000,000 weekly.

An administration spokesman said President Roosevelt was abandoning the policy of "cheapening the dollar in favour of increasing purchasing power by higher wages and shorter hours."—United Press; Per Gold Bar Company.

OFFICIALS SILENT.

Washington, Aug. 4.
The White House continues to be silent regarding reports that early additional inflationary movements are contemplated, but authoritative circles insist that the administration is not likely to announce such moves in advance, because of the fear that they might cause wide fluctuations in the dollar.

The same circles reiterate the belief that no immediate moves are intended, pointing out that the President has already announced that his inflationary powers will be applied when and if necessary. Thus any action depends on the requirements of business conditions.—United Press, per Gold Bar Company.

TOO MANY DOCTORS

American Association Urges Limitation

Milwaukee, Wisconsin.
Too many students now are entering medical schools in the United States, says the report of the Associations Council on medical education, with the result that there is an overproduction of physicians. The Council urged that medical schools limit their enrolment severely in view of this situation.

The report said a recent survey showed there is a surplus of 25,000 physicians in the United States.

The Council recommended that American graduates of foreign medical schools be barred from State examinations in this country unless they met American pre-medical requirements before going abroad and could show they passed a licensing examination in the country where they studied.—Reuter.

DAMAGE TO ROYAL TOMB

Underground Invasion of Water

Vienna.
Water from an underground canal forging its way into the Kaisergruft in the Neuer Markt, Vienna, where all the Habsburg emperors up to Francis Joseph are buried is damaging the Emperor's tomb.

The Kaisergruft is still recognised as Habsburg property. It is their only inherited possession still remaining in Austria.

A Peruvian woman was so shocked at seeing the old Emperor's tomb standing in water, that she made an immediate subscription of £3.10 as the start of a fund now being raised for repairs.—Reuter.

POPULAR AIR MAIL

INCREASING USE OF SERVICES

Nairobi.
Air mail services are becoming increasingly popular in Kenya and Uganda, according to a report just issued by the postmaster general of those states.

During 1932, it is stated, 300,163 letters were sent out of Kenya by air mail, while 255,885 were received by that means.

In Uganda, despatches during the year totalled 31,800 and receipts numbered 37,700.

In addition, 50,000 postal packets were received in Kenya and Uganda from other countries to be forwarded to destinations outside the states.—Reuter.

MANY a mother has cause to thank Doctor for recommending Ambrosia. This pure Devonshire Milk Food supplies that extra nourishment that Baby must have when breast-feeding fails. Ambrosia is vitamin-rich Devonshire milk exclusively, purified, dried and packed in Devonshire dairies all within a short time of milking. The important vitamins are retained, nothing is added, only water is taken away. By adding hot water to Ambrosia you have instantly, at any time, a supply of delicious creamy Devonshire milk—fresher, many times purer and more easily digested than Grade "A" milk—and much less expensive, too.

FRANCE FACES ECONOMIC CRISIS

VAST PLANS FOR REORGANISATION — FIRST REPORTS

Paris.
Vast plans for the complete re-organisation of production and distribution on a nation-wide scale, are being drawn up by the national economic council of France.

The first two studies, which analyse the French organisation of foodstuff production, transport and distribution, have just been issued.

They point out that French producers to-day are individualists working in 'water-tight' compartments, unaware (1) Of the total market demand for their product, (2) Of the total production marketed to meet that demand and (3) Of the latest production and marketing improvements available.

LACK OF CO-ORDINATION.

The transport provided shows, it is contended, an uneconomic lack of coordination. The quality, packing and conservation of foodstuffs produced do not attain the best standards and there are too many varieties. Standardisation in these three matters alone would decrease costs to producer and consumer and increase quality.

The public is badly informed and indifferent as to quality and prices and is unorganised to defend itself against abuses.

Reforms therefore recommended are:

The rationalisation of production by uniting producers of the same commodities into syndicates, which, supplanting haphazard, 'hit or miss' methods, would by scientific marketing in accordance with statistical surveys increase profits to the producer, reduce costs to the consumer and avoid millions of pounds of waste annually to the community.

20 PER CENT. WASTED.

The council estimate that at least 20 per cent of the total foodstuff production in France is wasted through bad packing and transport methods. Scientific cold storage in transit, with automatic maintenance of the goods at a specified temperature, which is unknown here to-day, is urged.

The trade syndicates would also establish permanent exchanges of information between industrialists, agriculturalists and middlemen with a view to scientific marketing.

The prevalent custom of sending consignments of "approximate weights," which leads to widespread abuses, is to be suppressed and be substituted by standardisation of sales conditions and pricing.

The members of the council are divided over the problem of national price-fixing. Some advise against it, alleging that it keeps prices up on a falling market, while keeping prices down when economically a rise is justifiable to maintain the volume of production needed. It also leads to the disappearance of goods altogether from the market. Other members consider that these difficulties can be overcome.

ONLY WAY TO IMPROVE.

No reforms are however possible, says the council, without the education of the consumer to remove hostility or indifference to improvements. Unless the consumer collaborates with the authorities in controlling qualities, weights and prices, no visible improvements or economies can be effected. The attention of consumers needs also to be directed to certain cheap products of good value which are at present persistently neglected.

Finally, the revision of the numerous vexatious methods of indirect taxation, such as tolls on entering towns, and sales taxes,

MYSTERY POTTERY PAINTING

FAMOUS TRURO ART

London.
The painting of the famous Truro pottery occupies almost every woman in the little Cornish village of Pentewan.

How it is done is a mystery which none may probe, for the process is a jealously guarded secret. When visitors are shown to the studio, all work immediately stops.

Vases, jugs, bowls and ware of all sizes and shapes idle until the intruder, having duly wondered and admired, has gone his way.

The industry began nine years ago in the smallest cottage in the village.

A woman arrived at Pentewan one day with £5 in her pocket. In a tiny two-roomed cottage she started painting by hand pottery made at the china clay quarries close by.

Now, large quantities of it are being sold in almost every town in England and in many places abroad. When the Prince of Wales visited the studio recently, he was so impressed with the ware that he gave a large order for it.—Reuter.

In favour of a single uniform tax, is recommended.—Reuter.

Burglar's Holiday Party

BUT THEY MISSED THE BIG HAUL

Budapest.
Burglars broke into the house of a Hungarian dentist while he was away on holiday.

After sleeping in his beds, using his best linen, drinking his wine, and eating all they could find, they departed, taking with them about £5 worth in small change and jewelry.

But they had failed to notice an envelope containing £90 in bank notes, which was lying on the owner's writing desk.—Reuter.

PASTY HENDREN SCORES 227 BUT MIDDLESEX ARE DEFEATED

CRICKET EXTRAORDINARY

ESSEX CAUSE A DEBACLE

SURREY WIN BY ONE RUN

London, Aug. 4. Cricket extraordinary was witnessed when Essex and Middlesex met during the last three days. Essex, facing a first innings score of 368, actually passed it and then beat their rivals by seven wickets.

When Middlesex, thanks largely to Hendren, who carried his bat for a magnificent 227, compiled the respectable score of 368 in their initial visit to the ground, it looked as though they had at least made the game safe.

But Essex, finding the wicket just as easy on which to score, topped the Middlesex total by ten runs.

Then came the debacle. The London team made a sorry show in their second innings, being sent back for a mere 97. P. Smith was chiefly responsible taking 4 for 38.

Essex made light of their task, hitting off the runs for the loss of three wickets.

WIN BY ONE RUN.

An exciting struggle for first innings points featured the match between Surrey and Northants. Surrey won the day, but only by one run.

Surrey compiled 257 and Northants replied with 256. Once this little argument had been settled the cricket tamed off and the inevitable draw resulted.

Restricted by rain, only two innings could be completed in the Lancashire v Gloucester encounter, but those innings contained some bright cricket, notably Wally Hammond's masterly century, scored out of a total of 234. Gloucester finished 28 runs behind.

A handsome knock of 137 not out by R. E. S. Wyatt paved the way to a huge Warwickshire score against Worcester. It eventually reached 524 for 7 at which the innings was closed.

Worcester could make little headway against the steady Warwick attack and were twice dismissed whilst still 122 runs in arrears.—Reuter.

ALL SQUARE

Poland & Italy in Davis Cup

Warsaw, Aug. 4. Poland and Italy finished all square after the first day's play in their second round match in the qualifying tournament for the 1934 Davis Cup competition.

In the initial match of the series, Hobbs of Poland easily beat Sortorio the Italian in straight sets.

Sortorio, after winning five games in the first set, was hopelessly outplayed and conceded the next two sets without winning a single game.

Stefani took revenge in the second singles, when he beat Tloczynski by three sets to one.

He gained a two-set advantage in very comfortable style, and eased up in the third, which he conceded. He returned with renewed vigour and finished off the match at the twelfth game.

The scores as supplied by Reuter were:
Hobbs (Poland) beat Sortorio 7-5, 6-0, 6-0.
Stefani (Italy) beat Tloczynski 6-3, 6-2, 6-1.

RESULTS AT A GLANCE.

Essex (378 and 91-3) beat Middlesex (368 and 97) by seven wickets.
Surrey (257 and 229) beat Northants (256 and 139-7) on first innings.
Notts (402-8 dec. and 89-0) beat Somerset (242 and 248) by 10 wickets.
Warwick (524-7 dec.) beat Worcester (185 and 217) by innings and 122 runs.
Lancashire (262) beat Gloucester (234) on first innings.

ANALYSIS OF VINES V CRAWFORD MATCH

SERVICE ACES COMPARED: AMERICAN FADES AWAY

Never had there been such a scene at Wimbledon when Vines netted the last stroke in the final against Crawford. The 15,000 spectators seemed to rise to their feet spontaneously, hats and caps were flung into the air, and the cheering might have been heard miles away.

At one moment in the general excitement it appeared probable that the centre-court would be invaded by the spectators, and that Crawford would be carried off shoulder high.

It is the considered opinion of those competent to judge that the final was the greatest ever played in the long history of Wimbledon. Mr. H. Roper Barrett, who has played and followed first-class tennis for 40 years, stated that it was the best final he had ever seen, "even better than in the days when H. L. Doherty won the final for five years in succession from 1902 to 1906 inclusive, and R. F. Doherty, who won four years in succession from 1897 to 1900."

DAILY PRACTICE.

Both Crawford and Vines were to be seen practising on outside courts at Wimbledon almost daily before the singles final. The American was obviously not satisfied with his backhand play and spent many evenings with Maskell.

MIXED DOUBLES LEAGUE

I.R.C. WIN THEIR LAST MATCH

ALL FIXTURES PLAYED

The Mixed Doubles Division tie in the Tennis League between the Indian R.C. and the Club de Recreio at King's Park yesterday resulted in a win for the former by 6 sets to 3.

S. A. Rumjahn and I. M. A. Razack were notable absentees from the Sookunpoo team, and J. A. E. Casumbhoy and F. D. Pereira filled their places. The latter partnered Miss J. Gecks and lost all three sets.

Results:
Miss R. Rumjahn and H. D. Rumjahn (I.R.C.) beat Miss O. M. Ribeiro and C. A. Barretto, 6-2; beat Miss O. M. Botelho and A. V. Remedios, 6-4; beat Miss M. G. Alves and J. B. Goncalves, 6-0.

Miss J. Gecks and F. D. Pereira (I.R.C.) lost to Miss Ribeiro and Barretto, 2-6; lost to Miss Botelho and Remedios, 1-6; lost to Miss Alves and Goncalves, 4-6.
Mrs. Kew and J. A. E. Casumbhoy (I.R.C.) beat Miss Ribeiro and Barretto, 6-2; beat Miss Botelho and Remedios, 6-3; beat Miss Alves and Goncalves, 6-2.

"B" DIVISION

C.R.C. Obliterate Indian R.C.

Playing in the "B" Division yesterday, the Chinese Recreation Club, potential winners of the shield, advanced a further step towards realization of this quest when they outplayed the Indian Recreation Club to win by 8½ sets to 2½.

Only A. H. Madar and Ismail could hold their own against the powerful Chinese and those two obtained the Indians' solitary half point.

(The detailed scores are not yet endeavouring to gain more reliance on this wing. Crawford was content to try out his strokes in turn, and finish with a practice match. Crawford adopted Cochet's tactics in standing well in to receive the Cannon-ball service of Vines in the final. He has the necessary quickness of eye for this, and anticipation did the rest. The fact that Crawford was only beaten outright, failing to get racket to ball, 13 times during the 28 service games of Vines evidences to the quick eye of the Australian. Crawford's footwork after the ball had left his racket was a study; he made for the centre of his baseline at top speed, watched his opponent shape for the ball and endeavoured to anticipate the direction of the reply. He was frequently compelled to turn again to the corner he had just left, and so quick was he on the turn that few of Vines's ferocious drives got past his racket.

SERVICE ACES IN THE MEN'S FINAL.

A careful note was made of the number of service aces scored by Vines and Crawford in the men's singles final. The figures confirm the impression gained of the match as a whole that Vines kept the match alive by his cannon-ball delivery; he scored no fewer than 44 times on service, 13 of these being clean service aces to the stop-netting. Of the remaining 31 services Crawford connected racket and ball but failed to make a good return into his opponent's court, either netting, over-hitting or snicking the ball as it went past. In other words, Vines scored the equivalent of 11 love games on service a very large figure in his 28 service games.

Crawford's service was also a fruitful source of point-winning. He could only beat Vines cleanly twice but scored 22 times when Vines failed to make a good return. On balance therefore Vines won 20 points more on service. The figures given below show that the potency of Vines's service deteriorated as the match progressed.

Second Set	13	17
Third Set	3	4
Fourth Set	1	9
Fifth Set	4	6

POINT SCORE.

The point score of the final between Crawford and Vines also gives interesting results. In the long second set, for instance, only three points separated the players (64 to 61), while the figures in the third and fourth sets were nearly identical, Crawford winning the third set by 28 points to 16 and losing the fourth by 18 points to 29. In the fifth set the balance in favour of Crawford was five (31 to 26). More remarkable still only three points separated winner and loser at the end of the match, 167 to 164. The figures were as follows:—

First Set (Crawford serving).—4-1, 2-4, 1-4, 1-4, 0-4, 1-4, 5-3, 5-3, 2-4. Set to Vines by 32 points to 20.

Second Set (Crawford serving).—6-3, 1-4, 4-2, 2-4, 4-2, 0-4, 1-4, 2-4, 5-3, 3-5, 5-3, 2-4, 5-3, 2-4, 1-4, 4-2, 2-4, 4-0, 5-3. Set to Crawford by 64 points to 61.

Third Set (Crawford serving).—4-2, 2-4, 4-0, 1-4, 4-2, 5-3, 4-1, 4-0. Set to Crawford by 28 points to 16.

Fourth Set (Crawford serving).—4-1, 0-4, 1-4, 1-4, 4-1, 1-4, 4-0, 4-2, 4-2 and 4-0. Set to Crawford by 31 points to 20.

Fifth Set (Crawford serving).—4-0, 1-4, 4-0, 1-4, 6-4, 1-4, 0-4, 0-4, 4-2 and 4-0. Set to Crawford by 31 points to 20.

35 GOLD MEDALS
TAKEN

STOLEN DURING DINNER

London, July 11.

Thirty-five gold medals won by Miss Betty Nuthall, the tennis star and medals won by her brother, Mr. W. K. Nuthall, at Cambridge, were stolen last night from their home in Richmond Hill.

"We were having dinner at the time," Mrs. Nuthall Betty's mother, told a reporter shortly afterwards. "When Betty's sister Molly returned to the drawing-room to continue her piano practising, she found the door locked."

"We then found that the French window leading into the garden was open. On a settee in the drawing-room lay a leather bag containing one of my son's silver cups."

"What Betty is most upset about is the loss of four miniature tennis balls of solid gold, given to the winners of American championships. She had one for the singles, two for mixed doubles and one for ladies' doubles championships."

"Among the medals taken were five for British Hard Court Championships; also six silver Apostrophe spoons which Betty valued very highly, won in club games. "There were about 150 medals and cups in all. But only the gold ones, with a few exceptions, had been taken. The police were informed at once."

"It is mainly the sentimental value of the trophies which counts with us," Mrs. Nuthall added. "In that sense they can never be replaced."

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Glenda O'Brien, on her wedding night, is face to face with a murder charge. Ten of the world's greatest living authors put their leading character in that predicament and get her out again in "The Woman Accused," the nationally known Paramount-Liberty Magazine story, which has its final showings to-day
 at the Queen's Theatre featuring Nancy Carroll, Cary Grant, John Halliday, Louis Calhern and Irving Pichel. But it took the combined efforts of much internationally famous writers such as Rupert Hughes, Vicki Baum, Zano
 Grey, Vinu Dolinar, Irvin S. Cobb,
 Gertrude Atherton, J.P. McEvoy,
 Ursula Parrott, Polan Banks and Sophie Kerr to create the masterly situations and the truly human characters that move through them.

The whole story is Glenda O'Brien's
 the story of a girl who killed to save a former lover from the rule to which a glorious love would have plunged it.
 Appalling as were the possible consequences, the man's death is the only way out and, motivated by hate and fear, the crime is committed. She runs away with her fiancé, played by Cary Grant, on one of those three day
 "cruises to nowhere" is pursued by the partner of the dead man, who, in a thriller-packed scene, forces a confession from her in the presence of the boat's entire passenger list.

A breathless climax, in which a blunt-nosed automatic and a sinuous "bull-whip" vie for victory, sets the romance aright once more and starts
 Glenda O'Brien on the road to happiness.

"Wild Girl," the new Fox romance
 featuring Charles Farrell, Joan Bennett and Ralph Bellamy in the principal roles, closes at the King's Theatre to-day. It is a stirring tale of the California mining camps based on the Bret Harte story, "Sammy Jane's Kiss." Directed by Raoul Walsh and filmed almost entirely in the Bret Harte country of the High Sierras, the production is said to have many unique features in addition to its imposing cast.

The story hinges on a tempestuous romance between a madcap mountain girl and a Virginia youth, who has trailed his sister's betrayer to the California Sierras soon after the Civil War. The colourful episodes of the Harte tale are all included in the efforts of the girl's other suitors to attract her interest; the meeting with the strange, his shooting of his enemy,

 the hold-up of a stagecoach, the forming of a Vigilante posse, the capture of the stranger, the girl's fruitless endeavours to save him from hanging, his escape, and the rapid series of crises that form the climax.

The picture which millions of persons have heard about
 The picture that inspired two hundred thousand amateurs to turn musical story writers!

The most talked-about story Hollywood has ever produced.
 Each of these rather startling phrases can be used to describe Radio Pictures' Broadcast Special,
 "The Phantom of Crestwood" now playing at the Central Theatre.

For never before has an author's work, or a screen or a stage production had such a preparatory campaign as was given this feature.

Millions of listeners heard the developments of "The Phantom of Crestwood" over the wireless. These millions were urged, having heard all but the solution of the mystery, to write a 600 word ending as they solved
 it. And the best endings cash prizes totalling $6,000 were offered, via the radio, newspapers, periodicals and billboards.

All in all, each factor considered, it can be claimed that "The Phantom of Crestwood" is the most famous mystery story of all time.

The cast is one of the importance.
 Included are Karen Morley, Ricardo
 Cortez, H.B. Warner, Alleen Pringle,
 Pauline Frederick, Ivan Simpson, Tom Douglas, Matty Kemp and others to a total of two score.

The story is by Bartlett Cormack and J. Walter Ruben the latter directing the picture.

"Rain," the Joan Crawford picture which comes to the King's Theatre tomorrow, is the first of a series of feature films to be made by Lewis Milestone, under his newly-formed affiliation with Joseph M. Schenck and the Art Cinema Corporation, and advance reports place it unmistakably in the category of "All Quiet on the Western Front," "The Front Page" and other masterpieces.

The story is a new adaptation by

Maxwell Anderson of the famed stage play, which in turn was adapted by John Colton and C. Randolph from the story by W. Somerset Maugham. It is known to millions; in fact, it is one of the best-known stories in the English language.

Joan Crawford was loaned to United Artists by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for the leading role, this being the first time a star of her magnitude has been let out by that company. And around her has been assembled one of the greatest casts in years, its members including Walter Huston, William Gargan, Matt Moore, Guy Kibbee, Walter Catlett, Boulah Bondi, Kendall Lee,
 Ben Handricks and Frederick Howard.

The entire company was "on location" for two months. Which means that "Rain" in its entirety was photographed on a location which is a natural replica of the South Seas, the locale. And, like the South Seas, the company was permitted to "go native," with the result that a realism was attained which would not have been possible in Hollywood, no matter what the artistry.

"Reunion in Vienna" is starred in John Barrymore's Metro-Goldwyn-
 Mayer's pictureization of Robert E.
 Sherwood's smashing Broadway stage hit of last season. In the new film which opens to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre, Barrymore plays the role of the impulsive and irresistible Hapsburg archduke, Rudolf, who returns to Vienna from exile to recapture the memory of kisses that lingered long after the royal reign toppled and the glory of the glamorous court life faded.

This role, created on the stage by Alfred Lunt, with Lynn Fontanne in the feminine lead, is said to match Barrymore's individual talents and personality with flawless fit. It follows his acclaim in "Grand Hotel," "Rasputin and the Empress," "Bill of Divorcement" and "Topaze."

Diana Wynyard is the leading lady, filling the Fontanne role of Elena, the Viennese beauty who marries an eminent psychiatrist in an effort to forget the romance that swept her off her feet in the gay court days. Miss Wynyard, who made her film debut with Barrymore in "Rasputin and the Empress," recently scored in "Cavalcade" and "Men Must Fight." Her latest characterization is said to offer
 the finest opportunity of her career.

CHARHAR POLICY

NANKING PREFERS PEACE

Peking, Aug. 4.

The Central Government is continuing its peaceful efforts in settling the Charhar situation.

This morning, General Ho Ying-ching, interviewed by the Chinese press, stated that the Military Council is bringing up three more proposals for Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang. They are:

1. That Marshal Feng abolish his present military post and accept the four basic principles enunciated by General Chiang Kai-shek and Mr. Wang Ching-wei;
2. That Marshal Feng withdraw all his irregulars from Kalgan to Hsuanhua, in order that General Sung Chieh-yuan may be able to return to Charhar;
3. Pending General Sung's return to Kalgan, Tung Lin-kuo, who was appointed Chairman of the Charhar Government by Marshal Feng, remain in that post.

General Ho Ying-ching added that in spite of the provocative attitude adopted by Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang, the Central Government has no intention of resorting to force, but would continue peaceful efforts to settle the situation in Charhar.—Reuter.

PEACE OR WAR?

Peking, Aug. 4.

A special train is being held ready to-night to convey Sung Chieh-yuan to Hsuanhua where he will attempt to arrange a meeting with Feng Yu-hsiang for the purpose of urging him to accept the three proposals of General Ho Ying-ching regarding the Charhar situation.

Chinese circles attach the greatest importance to Sung Chieh-yuan's mission, as upon its outcome depends the question of peace or war. Meanwhile General Pao Kang, a subordinate of Fang Chen-wu has telegraphed Ho Ying-ching accepting the post of Brigade Commander offered by the Military Council.—Reuter.

NO SETTLEMENT IN SIGHT.

Peking, Aug. 4.

The Charhar question continues to worry the authorities here as no definite settlement appears to be in sight, although an unconfirmed report says that General Feng Yu-hsiang has expressed his willingness to accept the four proposals of General Chiang Kai-shek and Mr. Wang Ching-wei.

The Chinese press this morning quotes a local high official as stating that the brigade under General Pao Kang, a subordinate of General Fang Chen-wu, is being reorganised by the Peking Military Council with General Pao Kang continuing to be in command. It is also reported that General Chang Jen-chieh, Brigade Commander under General Fang Chen-wu has come over to the Central Government. These reports, however, lack confirmation.—Reuter.

The 17-ton motor yacht, Ansonia, owned by Mr. F. Stanley Smith was destroyed by fire near Cowes yesterday. Although she was several miles out from the Isle of Wight when the fire broke out, the flames were easily visible from the Royal yacht, Victoria, and Albert, which was anchored in the Cowes Roads. A great pillar of smoke rose into the sky from the burning vessel. Mr. Clark, his wife and party had a narrow escape. They were forced to jump into the water and were picked up by a boat from another yacht. The fire is believed to have been caused by the engine back firing.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

We often hear quoted, "Cover an honour with an honour." While it is generally good practice for the opponents to adhere to this convention of play, remember that this does not necessarily hold true for the declarer. The declarer, by refusing to cover an honour with an honour in the following hand, is able to develop a squeeze play which allows him to make game.

At auction or contract, South would start with one heart, West would overcall with one no trump and East in auction would respond with two spades, while at contract he would bid three spades. West, at contract, would then take his partner to four spades.

The Play

South has the opening lead and the proper suit to open is hearts. The suit is headed with the ace, king, therefore the king should be led. South, after getting a look at the dummy, refuses to continue hearts as it would set up the queen for the declarer, but shifts to the club suits and leads the queen.

C-K-7

The Bidding

If the declarer covers with the king in dummy, North will win with the ace and return the hearts which the declarer will have to trump, and when North gets in again with the jack of clubs, he will again lead a heart, and in this manner the declarer could not make four odd.

He should refuse to cover the queen, but should play small from dummy, North would encourage the club lead by playing the eight spot and declarer the deuce. South would continue with the six of clubs, dummy would play the king, and North would win the trick with the ace. North would return a heart which the declarer would trump with the deuce of spades.

The declarer's play is to lead the ten of clubs. He can trump it in the dummy with the king if necessary, but when South shows out by discarding a small heart, the declarer can trump small in dummy. He then leads the king and eight of spades, picking up the opponents' trump.

South is pretty well marked with three hearts and three diamonds to the king. If this is true, the declarer has a squeeze position and swings the ace and queen of spades, South discarding two hearts, the dummy two diamonds and North two clubs.

The third and last spade is led by the declarer, and South is squeezed. He cannot discard the ace of hearts or the queen will be good in dummy, therefore he drops a small diamond, the declarer discards the queen of hearts from dummy and then leads a small diamond, finessing the queen, returning the ace, which picks up all of the outstanding diamonds.

The last diamond wins the trick for the declarer, allowing him to HEAT WAVE AT HOME.

HOTTEST AUGUST NIGHT FOR CENTURY

The heat wave has returned to Europe and all August records are being broken. The hot weather will probably continue over the Bank Holiday on Monday.

The temperature in London on Thursday night was 80 degrees, with excessive humidity. It was the hottest August night for nearly a century.

In Paris the temperature was 81 degrees and 86 in other parts of France. In Portugal, numerous fires have devoured miles of woodlands and plantations. One mountain fire has been burning for eight days.

Twenty-four houses were destroyed in one village and in another place, a forest fire has a width of 10 miles, threatening a number of villages.

KOWLOON COAL DUMP.
COLONIAL SECRETARY TO RECEIVE DEPUTATION

In connexion with the communication sent to the Government concerning the coal dump at Chatham Road, Kowloon, a reply has been received from the Colonial Secretary stating that he will be happy to receive the deputation of residents appointed, on Tuesday next at 3 p.m.

The deputation, which was appointed at a recent meeting of residents from the area affected, will submit a protest against the polluting of the amenities by having a coal dump in that locality.

TEN MILLION HOLIDAY TRAVELLERS

ENGLAND RAILWAYS PREPARED

London, Aug. 4. The outward summer holiday traffic which has been specially heavy during the past fortnight is expected to touch the peak for the season to-morrow morning.

Motorcoach bookings are exceptionally heavy and the railways are carrying more passengers than were booked in the corresponding period of last year.

It is officially estimated that the four railway companies will carry over 10,000,000 passengers during the coming week-end, 20,000 locomotives and 45,000 coaches being in use.—British Wireless.

AIR MAIL MONEY ORDERS

EXTENSION OF THE FACILITIES

London, Aug. 4.

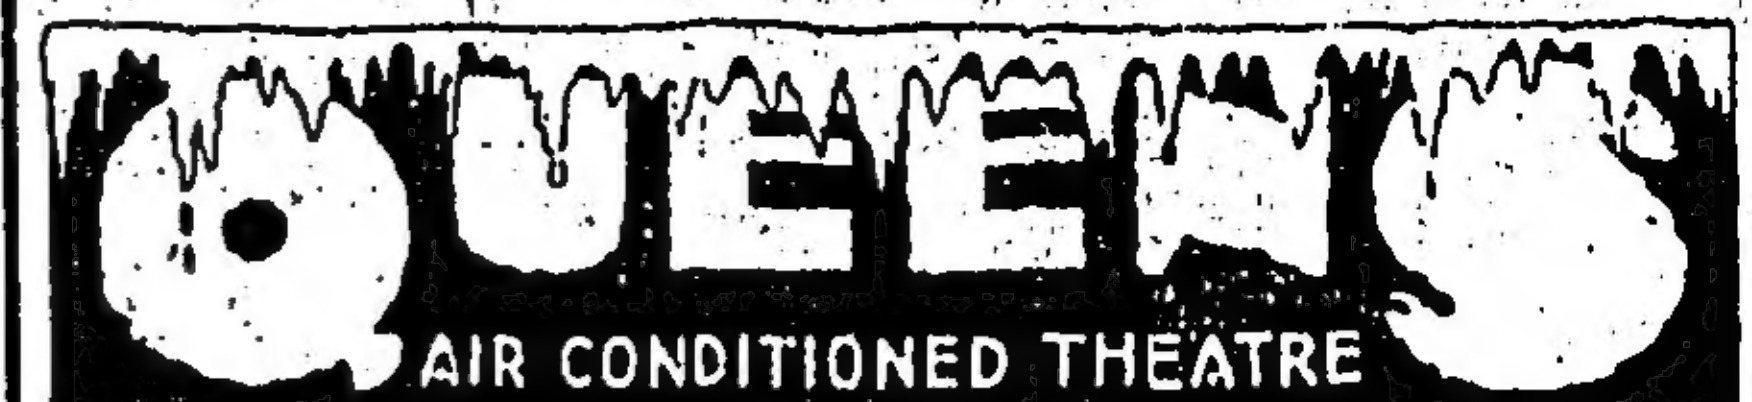

The Postmaster General announces that the Air Mail Money Order Service has now been extended to Kenya, Uganda, Tanganyika Territory, Palestine and Transjordan.

In the case of an Order for Transjordan, particulars are advised by Air Mail to Jerusalem and retransmitted by ordinary mail.

In addition to the poundage of the ordinary rate for Imperial and foreign money orders, a special air mail money order fee of sixpence is payable on each order for Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika Territory and of two-pence on each order for Palestine and Transjordan, irrespective of the amount.—British Wireless.
